Welcome

You are probably reading this guide because you, or someone you care for, is a dialysis patient. As the world cautiously emerges from the COVID-19 pandemic, perhaps your thoughts have turned to travel, to holidays? If so, you are in the right place, because at Diaverum we believe travelling for pleasure is an enriching experience, increasing wellbeing for our patients and their families alike, and helping you to live the fulfilling life that you deserve.

Our clinic staff can help at all steps of your holiday planning, from ideas of where to go, to ensuring that you receive the best quality care at your destination. Through our d.HOLIDAY programme, you will be able to access care at our 450 clinics worldwide. This guide is designed to whet your appetite for some of the most popular holiday destinations, as far afield as Europe and South America, where Diaverum can offer you world-class care.

Working with us to tailor a holiday to suit your needs, you can rest assured that your dialysis care as you travel will take place in a Diaverum clinic that feels like a home-from-home. And you can access this care regardless of whether you are normally looked after by Diaverum: we want all dialysis patients, wherever they are and wherever they normally receive care, to feel comfortable using our services and so enjoy a travelling life to the full.

Present in 24 countries, with 14,000 staff worldwide treating 40,000 patients to 6.2 million treatments every year, we can assure you that you will be in the best possible hands while you let your dreams of adventure run free.

The Diaverum d.HOLIDAY Team

What positive impacts has travelling brought to your life as a kidney patient?

Daniel Gallego,
President, ECPF, and dialysis patient since 1995

For many people, there is no better feeling than to travel and to get in touch with the world. Not only do you discover other ways of understanding life, facing daily challenges, engaging and living, you also learn a lot about yourself. From my travels, I have been able to get to know other cultures and enjoy unique, authentic experiences. Through travel, I have met many different people, many of whom are still very important to me; all of this while discovering other cuisines, forms of art, architecture and interesting places.

Over the years, I have learned that my disease does not define me. The only time I feel like a kidney patient is during haemodialysis sessions. When I finish my treatment, I am just like everyone else... someone with dreams, hobbies and aspirations. I aim to live a fulfilling life, as any healthy person would. I try to be active, both physically and mentally, to be on the move and go places.

It's true that people like me depend on a machine to survive, but this machine is available all over the world

More than anything, I value my independence and being able to realise my dreams, like travel, and discovering other cultures.

It's true that people like me depend on a machine to survive, but this machine is available all over the world.

At ECPF (European Kidney Patients' Federation), we promote and encourage the mobility of people with kidney disease across the globe, even those who are dependent on haemodialysis.

Holiday dialysis programmes should allow kidney patients free movement to travel, and as ECPF President, I hope this guide will show you how this is possible.

The goal is to reach the horizon, which is full of new experiences.

Personally, I believe experience, such as travel, to be much more important than possessions.

Travelling has taught me to enjoy every moment and to always search for new goals. Despite living with kidney failure, I always try to find the best new destinations at every possible occasion: whether it be a few days of rest, an adventure or a big city tour. All such moments allow you to disconnect and take a break from an exhausting routine, and to remind you that life can offer many wonderful opportunities.

Costa del Sol

The Costa del Sol is one of the most popular tourist destinations in the world. With such a wide range of facilities and attractions, there is something for everyone, of all tastes, ages and nationalities, to enjoy.

Miles of sandy beaches, fantastic all year-round warmth and modern facilities keep tourists flocking back year after year to Torremolinos, Benalmadena, Fuengirola, Marbella and Estepona and, on the east side of Málaga, to Rincon de la Victoria, Torre del Mar and Velez Malaga. This area combines beautiful coastline, with white-washed villages and some of the most spectacular inland scenery of the region.

The cuisine of the Costa del Sol is something that you will not forget, due to its diversity and character. Being by the Mediterranean sea, you can expect to savour fish freshly caught that day, combined with fresh ingredients from the 'campo' (countryside).

★ Don't miss:

- Larios Street;
- Plaza de la Merced;
- Roman Circus;
- Cathedral of Málaga;
- Chinitas Passage;
- Seaport;
- Picasso and Thyssen Museums;
- Castillo de Gibralfaro, built to house troops and protect the Alcazaba, is today one of the most visited monuments in Málaga;
- Take the number 35 bus from the Paseo del Parque and, from the castle, enjoy breathtaking views of the city and Málaga's bay.

The Balearic Islands are an archipelago set like jewels in the Mediterranean sea with a mild Mediterranean climate.

The landscape is varied and beautiful; from stunning mountains to sandy beaches lapped by calm crystalline waters. With many sites of great historical and cultural interest, alongside delightful people, interesting customs and gastronomy, several of the islands, including the largest, Mallorca, offer world-class-tourism.

★ Don't miss:

- The capital Palma is a must for a visit:
- Royal Palace of l'Almudaina and the Cathedral of Mallorca;
 - walk around the Plaza Mayor and its popular shopping streets where you can taste typical local food and buy souvenirs;

- Juan March Foundation Museum, installed in a beautiful building with a traditional Mallorcan courtyard;
- Bellver Castle, where you can enjoy the best sunsets in Spain, overlooking the Bay of Palma;
- Illetes – small quiet area to the west of Palma;
- Portals Nous – a pretty resort with a yacht marina, good choice of restaurants, bars and a marvellous sandy beach;
- Paquera – a small town with a magnificent beach, sheltered bay and very good selection of shops, bars and restaurants.

Destination Costa Blanca

Area Alicante and Valencia

Costa Blanca

The Costa Blanca, or White Coast, is one of Spain's most popular tourist destinations, extending 200 km along the Mediterranean coast. From Benidorm, reputedly the most famous holiday resort in the world, to the bustling, cosmopolitan city of Alicante, there is a resort to suit every taste. Step not far from the tourist hotspots, and you will find yourself among elegant villas, orchards and almond groves. This area is sometimes called the California of Europe, reflecting the large number of people who have moved here from other countries to enjoy the Costa Blanca's fantastic climate and holiday feel, all year round.

Alicante

- Island of Tabarca – home to a picturesque little town of whitewashed houses and historical church, this is a must-visit destination;
- Castillo de Santa Barbara – built sometime around the 9th century and immaculately preserved;
- El Barrio – or the old town, the historical heart of Alicante, with its winding cobbled streets and Spanish apartments adorned with flowers;
- La Explanada de España – Alicante's main and most beautiful promenade, made of 6.6 million red, cream and black tiles – you will probably spend a lot of time here;
- Marina – being a coastal city, Alicante is home to some spectacular yachts;
- Parque el Palmeral – overflowing with botanical life, waterfalls and lots of palm trees, Parque el Palmeral is a little slice of Eden just outside Alicante city centre;
- Being one of the largest cities around, Gandía, about 100 km from Alicante, attracts many tourists for shopping, but it is also an interesting place for sightseeing.

Gandía

- The Collegiate Basilica of Santa Maria of Gandía, also known as La Seu, is the principal church of the city, built in the 14th century;
- The Ducal Palace of Gandía – from the 14th century, this is the residence of the Royal Dukes of Gandía, and from 1485, the Borja family. It was the birthplace of Saint Francis Borja;
- Convent of Santa Clara;
- The Monastery of Sant Jeroni de Cotalba;
- Beaches of Gandía – are high quality, and several have been awarded certificates including the famous Blue Flag: Playa Norte, Playa de l'Ahuir, Playa de Venecia, Playa Rafalcaid.

Country Spain

Destination Costa Blanca

Area Alicante and Valencia

Valencia

Valencia faces the Balearic Islands and is equidistant from the country's two major epicentres of Madrid and Barcelona.

The beaches in Valencia, situated to the north of the port, are of very high-quality. They provide excellent facilities and water sports equipment is available to hire.

Valencian paella, made with rice, chicken, rabbit and vegetables, is the typical local dish, and the most famous dish from Spain.

The region's wine production is notable and the Valencian landscape has over 75,000 hectares of vineyards.

The province of Valencia has an enviably mild climate, which makes it an ideal all year- round destination. Come and enjoy Valencia's beautiful scenery, delicious cuisine and sunny weather.

★ Don't miss:

- The City of Arts and Sciences;
- L'Oceanogràfic – the star of the City of the Arts and Sciences is this oceanarium that opened in 2003. With 45,000 individual animals from 500 different species, you won't find another attraction on this scale in Europe;
- La Lonja de la Seda – majestic late 15th century building; a UNESCO World Heritage site and held as the masterpiece of Valencian gothic architecture;
- Valencia Cathedral – gothic cathedral dating to the 13th and 14th centuries, see especially the fascinating and controversial Chapel of the Holy Chalice;
- Historic centre – all of the must-see sights in this part of the city are just a couple of minutes away from each other;
- Barrio del Carmen – the north east side of the old town is the youngest and most bohemian part of the city;
- Turia garden – this park brings you fresh air and relaxation right in the middle of the city;
- Central market;
- Malvarrosa Beach – awarded the Blue Flag for all the amenities it provides.

Costa del Maresme and Barcelona

The Costa del Maresme in Catalonia, runs all the way from Barcelona to Blanes, almost 50 km in total. Along the coast, you will find a large number of resorts as well as many different sights and attractions. Costa Maresme is also a famous wine-growing region with plenty of vineyards dotted around the area.

Catalonia is known for its fine beaches and old, cobbled villages. Some locations like Barcelona, the capital of Catalonia and Spain's second largest and definitely most cosmopolitan city, are very busy and hectic with a great city vibe. In the area, you can also find many beautiful, historic fishing towns.

Barcelona, Spain's second largest and most cosmopolitan city, is one of the Mediterranean's most visited ports. It offers the best of both worlds, perfect for those wishing to combine a city break with time by the beach.

It is famous for ground-breaking art, architecture and avant-garde chefs. Think Picasso, think Gaudi, think Ferran Adrià, each pushing the boundaries in their field.

Barcelona has an impressive and proud history, dating back to its Roman origins; its rich cultural and artistic heritage easily combines with its avant-garde side.

Around the province of Barcelona there are many towns which are worth a visit, including the city of Vic, and Villafranca del Penedes and Sant Sadurn d'Anoia, both wine producers. The cuisine of Barcelona is a dynamic mix of traditional and modern experimental dishes, with influences from many different cultures that have lived in the city over the centuries: Italian, French, Greek, Provençal, Arab and Jewish. Gastronomy has become one of the key influences on the Catalan economy over the past few years, with some of the world's best restaurants and top chefs, such as Ferran Adrià, Santi Santamaría, Fermí Puig, Carles Gaig, Carme Ruscalleda and Sergi Arola.

In keeping with its geographical diversity, the province of Barcelona has numerous climates and microclimates. In general, the area enjoys a mild, temperate and Mediterranean type climate, characterised by hot, dry summers and mild winters.

COVID-19: helping you to travel safely

Dr Fernando Macário,
Diaverum Chief
Medical Officer

The COVID-19 pandemic is not over, but while it is still causing great suffering in many places, widespread vaccination is allowing hope in parts of the globe. It is of course true that the virus does not respect geographical boundaries, so increased travel brings with it the risk of contagion, but it is also fair to assume that vaccination will gradually help towards the resumption of travel.

Vaccination reduces the risk of contracting COVID-19, and may make it less severe if you do catch it. If you are thinking of travelling, we strongly advise that you do so once fully vaccinated (two doses for most vaccines, and at least two weeks after the second dose before protection is optimised), and travel will be safest in areas of high vaccine coverage.

Even once vaccinated, you should continue taking precautions to reduce your risk of contracting COVID-19. Older people, and those of any age who have some medical conditions including chronic kidney disease, cancer, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, Down's syndrome, serious heart problems, a weakened immune system, type 2 diabetes, and sickle cell disease, as well as those who are obese, who smoke or who are pregnant, are at increased risk from severe illness from COVID-19.

When deciding whether it is safe to travel, we also advise that you think about increased risk to anyone you live with who may be affected by these conditions and who you may therefore endanger by your decision. But travel is an important part of many people's lives, whether for work or for pleasure, and we want to help you travel safely:

- check the general COVID-19 situation and all requirements and restrictions where you plan to travel;
- take into consideration that, for many destinations, you need to be tested before you travel, especially if you are not vaccinated;

- take into consideration that in certain destinations you will need to quarantine on arrival at your own expense, and/or when you return;
- make sure your hotel or other accommodation complies with COVID-19 safety recommendations;
- remember to pack face masks, tissues, alcohol-based hand sanitiser, disinfectant wipes for surfaces, a thermometer and all the medicines you may need.

And once on your journey, there are general ways to help keep yourself and others safe:

- stay 2 metres away from others;
- wear a face mask, and try not to touch your eyes, nose or mouth;
- don't eat, drink or smoke on public transport, so that you do not need to remove your mask;
- limit contact with surfaces, such as handrails or lift buttons;
- wash your hands with warm soapy water for at least 20 seconds, as often as you can, or, if this is not possible, use hand sanitiser with at least 60% alcohol: carry a small bottle with you at all times, cover all surfaces of your hands and rub them together until they are dry, especially before eating or after coughing, sneezing or blowing your nose;

- cover coughs and sneezes with a tissue where possible, or by bending your arm and using it to cover your nose and mouth;
- avoid contact with anyone who has any symptoms of COVID-19.

Some special tips for air travel:

- wear a mask at all times, in the airport and during the flight ;
- wash your hands before and after screening;
- where possible, place boarding passes (paper or electronic) directly on the scanner and then hold them up for inspection, instead of handing them over ;
- place personal items such as keys, wallets and phones in carry-on bags, so that they do not have to be handled during screening.

Before deciding to travel, and when choosing where to go, remember that travelling increases the risk of contracting COVID-19. Vaccination can decrease this risk and decreases the risk of contracting severe forms of COVID-19. Travelling will be safest in regions with high vaccination coverage. Check the local situation, find out the regulations at your destination, both on arrival as well as on your return home, and take advice from your doctor about your planned trip. These are challenging times. Stay safe, and enjoy.

Destination Bari

Bari

Bari, a typical maritime and market city, is the capital of the Apulia region and the second biggest city in the south of Italy.

The port has a beautiful seafront and the wonderful ancient area of “Bari Vecchia”, where you can walk among narrow stone-lined streets of fading pastels and white, wrought-iron balconies and, of course, those beautiful shuttered windows.

★ Don't miss:

- The Basilica of San Nicola, in the heart of the old city of Bari, is one of the most significant examples of Apulian Romanesque architecture;
- The Petruzzelli Theatre is the largest theatre in Bari and the fourth largest in Italy, in the heart of the Apulian capital. The theatre is owned by the Municipality of Bari;
- Polignano a Mare – medieval village, perched on the high and jagged coast, retains its original charm, with a succession of alleyways and typical white houses and loggias overlooking the sea. On the elegant promenade, the statue of “Mister Volare” embraces the old city.

Copertino

Rich in history and traditions, Copertino enchants for its villages, parties, cuisine, beaches and entertainment. Former fiefdom of various foreign families, including the Enghien, the town has one of the best-preserved castles in Salento, built by the Castriota, of Albanian origin. The city is also home to the famous Madonna della Neve Basilica.

★ Don't miss:

- Lecce – capital of the province of the same name and cultural hub of Salento, Lecce, in Puglia, is one of the most beautiful cities in Southern Italy. Known as “the Florence of the South,” Lecce will amaze and fascinate its visitors. Its ancient Messapian origins and archaeological Roman remains mix with the richness and exuberance of 17th century Baroque churches and palaces in the city centre;

- Gallipoli – this beautiful city has the scent of spirituality. Also known as Città Bella, Gallipoli is a seaside city lying like a mirage on the Ionian coast;
- The Grotta della Poesia in Roca, between San Foca and Torre dell’Orso, is an area characterised by cliffs and small, inviting inlets. Considered one of the most beautiful natural pools in Italy, this cave is full of charm and mystery.

Rome, the capital of Italy, is considered one of the most beautiful cities in the world. Its unparalleled history, the Holy See (the Vatican) and the Basilica of San Paolo Fuori le Mura are among the 55 Italian sites included by UNESCO in the World Heritage List. Stroll through the city and discover ancient icons such as the Colosseum, Pantheon, St Peter's Basilica, medieval piazzas, Byzantine mosaics, a passion for good cuisine and a vibrant Roman experience.

★ Don't miss:

- Colosseo – the Flavian Amphitheatre, more commonly known as the Colosseum, rises in the archaeological heart of the city of Rome and welcomes a large number of visitors every day attracted by its history and complex architecture. It is perhaps the most symbolic structure of Italy;

- Piazza di Spagna is in one of the most interesting areas of Rome: Via dei Condotti (a famous shopping street), Via Frattina and Via del Babuino (a street with 17th and 18th century buildings) are just some of those worth seeing surrounding the square;
- St. Peter's Square – the most important square in Christianity. Much of its architectural charm is due to the intervention of Bernini who created the large 240-metre-wide ellipse surrounded by the splendid four-row colonnade consisting of 284 columns and 88 pillars;

- Trevi Fountain – one of the symbols of Rome, and the largest Baroque fountain in the city. Anyone visiting must see this beautiful monument.

Catania

An ancient port on the island of Sicily, Catania sits below Mount Etna, Europe's largest and most active volcano.

Overlooking the Ionian Sea, Catania is a splendid city of art, a jewel of Sicilian Baroque, together with the other eight towns of the Val di Noto.

★ Don't miss:

- Via Etna in Catania, the most important street in the historic city centre, is so called because it faces the direction of Mount Etna. It stretches uphill for more than two and a half kilometres, following a straight path from Piazza Duomo towards the volcano;
- Acireale – in the province of Catania, Acireale is a picturesque and panoramic town at the foot of Mount Etna, nestled on lava soil, in the midst of extensive citrus groves. Rich in history, Acireale has wonderful Baroque monuments, a lively shopping centre and is also a spa station;
- Mount Etna – a 3,329 metres high active volcano offering a scenic train ride, two ski areas and a cable car to the crater;

- Syracuse – a city on the Ionian coast of Sicily, known for its historic ruins. The central Archaeological Park of Neapolis encloses the Roman amphitheatre, the Greek Theatre and the Ear of Dionysus, a cave carved into the limestone in the shape of a human ear;
- Taormina – with its medieval village appearance, its ancient Greek soul, and colours and scents of Mediterranean vegetation, Taormina is one of the most beautiful places to visit in the world. And the climate of Sicily makes it an ideal destination at any time of the year.

Marsala

On the extreme west of Sicily, Marsala is famous for the landing of General Garibaldi and his “thousand” and is known as the city of wine. From near the town, you can also access the Phoenician island of Mozia.

★ Don't miss:

- Erice – perched on top of the mountain of the same name, the medieval village of Erice, at 750 metres, enjoys an exceptional panoramic view over the Gulf of Trapani and the Egadi islands on one side and the Valderice valley on the other. Small and authentic, Erice is a maze of cobbled streets that flow between churches, squares and ancient courtyards, inviting you to explore;

- Trapani and Egadi islands – Trapani, with its sickle shape, enjoys an enviable geographical position between two seas, at the foot of Mount Erice, near Selinunte, facing the splendid Egadi Islands and the famous Saline. Over the years, the city has developed a thriving economy linked to the extraction and trade of salt, bluefin tuna fish and the export of marble. The cultural hub of the entire province, Trapani houses one of the oldest gymnasiums in Sicily, libraries and a large number of interesting museums;

- Archaeological Park of Selinunte – the largest archaeological area in Europe, the Selinunte Park has myth, legend, history, culture and more. A treasure trove from thousands of years ago, yet still so alive, its 270 hectares tell of one of the most flourishing classical civilisations of the Mediterranean. Its rich yet still unfolding history attracts not only tourists and the curious, but researchers and scholars from across the world.

Nutritional advice for your journey

Vítor Sá Martins,
Nutrition Manager,
Diaverum Portugal

In most cases, as long as you are careful to remember your own nutritional recommendations, and make any necessary adjustments to meals, you will be able to enjoy and share new food experiences with your fellow travellers

When we go on holiday, we relax our daily routine, and we may well eat most of our meals in cafés or restaurants. And, of course, an important part of travelling is enjoying and tasting local cuisine and exploring new gastronomic traditions.

In most cases, as long as you are careful to remember your own nutritional recommendations, and make any necessary adjustments to meals, you will be able to enjoy and share new food experiences with your fellow travellers.

So, allow yourself to feel excited about eating new and different food when travelling, but remember too that you will have to keep to some dietary rules to ensure your kidney disease is controlled and that you enjoy your holiday to the full.

We have gathered some tips here to help you plan ahead:

- keep to your normal eating schedule and do not skip meals: eating regular meals will help you maintain your normal metabolism, make the best food choices and choose the right portion sizes. With a new routine on holiday, it is easy to skip a meal, and when hungry it can be hard to control what you eat and you may thus make food choices that are not right for you;

- do your homework before travelling: find out about local, typical dishes and food traditions at your destination. You can then assess in advance which foods are best for your clinical situation, enabling you to make the right decisions about what to eat. And before you go, you can always ask for help and advice from your home clinic team;
- do not be afraid to ask questions in restaurants: most restaurants will be delighted to advise you if you explain your situation to them. Why not have a chat with the waiter about how the dish is cooked, any detail you need about ingredients and information about portion sizes, salt content etc. They will usually be very happy to adapt dishes to suit your needs, if they understand what these are, such as not adding salt, omitting certain ingredients or adjusting portion sizes;
- remember your usual rules: in the thrill of travelling, it is easy to forget things. That is part of the fun, but for your safety, it is important not to forget everything!

As a renal patient, you might need to control thirst and avoid drinking too much and becoming overloaded with fluid. You can make this easier by controlling your salt intake and not eating too much spicy food. Controlling your body temperature is also important for fluid balance – avoid hot places and excessive sun exposure, but remember too that very dry places and air conditioning may make you thirsty. Keep your mouth clean, as good oral hygiene will make you less thirsty. And remember which foods with high phosphate and potassium content are not recommended by your clinical team, and avoid these during your trip.

Go to local markets and shops: these can be very interesting places to learn about local culture and food choices, and also good places to choose and buy the right snacks for your journey.

Stay active... even when on holiday, a good walk or other exercise is an important part of feeling good and staying healthy.

Focaccia with slices of apple and blueberries

A simple but tasty snack, perfect for hot days, that you can prepare in advance and take on your journey.

For the focaccia:

Ingredients (for 18 servings):

- 500 g all-purpose wheat flour;
- 1 tablespoon dry yeast (about 10 g);
- 315 ml warm water;
- 1 tablespoon white or brown sugar;
- 3 tablespoons virgin olive oil;
- a pinch of oregano, basil or rosemary (see below – this can also be added later) if essential, ½ teaspoon salt, but better to omit if possible.

Preparation:

1. Mix the warm water with the yeast and then add the sugar, olive oil and salt if using.
2. In another bowl, add the flour, making a hole in the middle, and then add the above wet mix slowly in the centre, moulding it until it forms a consistent dough.
3. Sprinkle a hard surface with flour and knead the dough for a further 10-15 min.
4. Let the dough rest and rise for an hour in a bowl greased with olive oil and covered with a wet cloth.
5. Once the dough has risen, grease a baking tray with olive oil and spread the dough on the tray, making some small holes in the surface.
6. To add flavour, use herbs such as oregano, basil or rosemary as above, before or after cooking – many flavours work well – use your imagination!
7. Cook in a pre-heated oven at 200°C for 30 minutes.

Approximate nutritional values per 50 g slice:

125 kcal, 22 g carbohydrate, 3 g fat, 1 g protein, 37 mg potassium, 40 mg phosphate.

For your journey, why not make it simple but perfect: in a small container with 2 compartments, fill one side with the focaccia, cut into bite size pieces, and in the other half, an apple, sliced and sprinkled with a little lemon juice, and 2 tablespoons of blueberries.

Tortilla wraps of fresh cream cheese and fruit jam

You can make these wraps “on the go” with ingredients that are easy to find anywhere – you only need plain wheat wraps, fresh cream cheese and jam.

Preparation:

1. Spread 1 tablespoon of fresh cream cheese (Philadelphia® type) on one wheat tortilla.
2. Spread a red fruit, pumpkin, strawberry or apple jam. If you have diabetes, please choose a no-sugar added jam, if you like, you can sprinkle with some cinnamon.
3. Fold the wrap, and cut it into small pieces and store in a small container for your travels.

Approximate nutritional values per wrap:

205 kcal, 27 g carbohydrate, 3 g protein, 4 g fat, 92 mg potassium, 116 mg phosphate.

No-sugar jam version: 156 kcal, 15 g carbohydrate, 3 g protein, 4 g fat, 92 mg potassium, 116 mg phosphate.

Lisbon

Lisbon is the stunning capital city of Portugal and one of the most charismatic and vibrant cities of Europe. It is the city of seven hills, embracing the Tejo River. Full light streets to explore and monuments that honour the history of Portugal.

★ Don't miss:

- Belém Tower – this tower was used to defend the city. Years later, it was transformed into a lighthouse and customs house and its five floors lead to a roof terrace, each storey connected by a small and narrow spiral staircase;
- Jerónimos Monastery – listed as a National Monument, its elaborate carvings showcase the glorious wealth that the age of exploration brought to the Portuguese empire;
- Bairro Alto and Chiado – Chiado is an elegant and bohemian neighbourhood full of famous cafés, theatres and museums. The colourful streets of Bairro Alto are full of graffiti and laundry hanging outside. The streets are full of graffiti and laundry hanging outside.

Filipe's story

Filipe Almeida, Diaverum ambassador, dialysis patient and world traveller, shares his thoughts on the importance and joy of his lifestyle

Filipe Almeida,
renal care patient at Diaverum,
globetrotter, surfer and father of three

I started dialysis on 19 April 2017, and initially I didn't talk about it much. I was in denial, while also hoping, unsuccessfully, for a kidney donor.

However, ten days later, my son Guilherme was born, and I remember thinking: now, I choose to live for you. And I became interested in the disease and the dialysis process, deciding that the disease wouldn't be stronger than me, and understanding that dialysis isn't something bad. On the contrary, I am so fortunate that the treatment exists, allowing me to continue my life with those I love, and doing what I enjoy.

Working in tourism

Shortly before I started dialysis, I had opened a tourism company, and become self-employed. I'd invested a lot of money in order to pursue something I really enjoyed, but I was worried about whether I would be able to do it, alongside the tiredness of each dialysis treatment. After much soul-searching, I decided that the days when I had dialysis would be my "best" days off, and that the days without treatment would be my "best" days, when I would need to work twice as hard to compensate for the days when I had to rest. I went to work with a sense of purpose, approaching my potential customers with a reinvigorated spirit. Sales soared, I met the goals I set for my company, and realised the importance and value of adapting to reality.

Travelling for pleasure

At the start of dialysis, I worried that I would never travel again, and thus loose an important pleasure which I shared with my family. And this is where Diaverum has been so inspirational.

With the help of my clinic, I learnt that it is easy to continue dialysis while travelling. There are many clinics around the world, but I also needed reassurance that I would find the same level of professional care when away from my home clinic.

My first step was to try treatment at a different clinic in Portugal. After that, I decided to go abroad. Prague was the first place I chose. And I remember it as if it were yesterday.

Since that time, I have travelled to – and had dialysis in – places that I would never have thought I could visit, including Cuba, Taiwan, Indonesia, Turkey and Israel.

The logistics were challenging, ensuring that there were suitable clinics in our chosen destinations. And now we plan our trips around those places. But I can travel, and that’s enough for me: knowing that I can be “on the road”, despite needing regular dialysis, makes me feel good about myself.

On a practical level, when travelling in Europe, I don’t have to pay for my treatment, thanks to the European Health Card. And in Europe and beyond, Diaverum clinics in several countries enable us to have our holidays, recharge our batteries and create new family experiences and memories.

I feel that, today, I am very much the same Filipe as I was before my treatment started.

Spotlight on Braga

We are an adventurous family, and love each day to be different. Travelling, meeting new people and experiencing new cultures fulfils us as individuals. And that is one reason why, in 2019, two years after I started dialysis, we travelled around the world with our two-year-old son Guilherme.

But first, I slowly tried dialysis treatments in Diaverum clinics “out of town” from my home city of Lisbon in Portugal. In these places, I found excellent professionals who always made me feel welcome and at home. They knew my medical background and gave me a lot of confidence during my treatments.

While in the north of Portugal, I had the opportunity to go to the Diaverum clinic in Braga and visit one of the most emblematic towns in the country. The small and narrow pedestrian streets, magnificent squares, houses and churches make it such a charming place. The Bom Jesus do Monte Shrine is an essential visiting viewpoint; it will take your breath away. Its huge stairway gives you a perfect view over the town and allows you to enjoy an awesome sunset. The Diaverum clinic is great, located just 10 minutes from the town centre, and I met such nice people there, happily discussing new travel ideas with other patients.

Braga is definitely an incredible place to visit in my country.

Marrakesh

Joanna's story

Joanna Bernet, from the Masurian Lake District in Poland, has been a dialysis patient for the last six years. Determined to continue with her passion for travelling despite her diagnosis, she set up a specialist agency to enable people like her to access high-quality care at their destination. This is her story.

Joanna,
renal care patient at Diaverum,
passionate traveller and dialysis travel agency founder

For me, and for many others, seeing new places and enjoying new experiences has a huge power to refresh and relax, mind and body. From the moment I start to plan my trip, I am happy and excited. And during the trip, I almost forget my disease, feel joy and freedom, and my self-esteem grows. I am certain that for people like me, who have chronic illnesses, travelling is truly therapeutic, with a tangible healing power. I always come back from my trips in good shape, with better blood test results and more energy.

Travelling when on haemodialysis

When I started my dialysis treatment 6 years ago, I thought I would be unable to travel. My physical and mental health were very poor, and I couldn't imagine how I could combine any trip with my essential treatment. However, when my doctor told me this was not the case, I was immediately determined to travel again.

The most challenging aspects of travel for those of us on dialysis will vary, but, like me, many kidney patients have other conditions as well which present their own challenges. I, for example, am partly disabled, and need help at airports, when boarding buses or trains or when having to make payments in cash.

Addressing the challenges of travel

The most important thing for me was learning to ask for help. It wasn't easy, but it was essential in enabling me to travel, often alone. During my trips I have realised that other people genuinely want to help me, and I have found this makes me very happy, and it also moves me.

My first step when planning any trip is to find a dialysis clinic at my destination which can take me, and of course now I run a travel agency specialising in arranging holiday dialysis for other people, I know many of the best places. And I always choose those with the highest medical standards, which can be the well-known brands, or lesser known, but tried and tested by me or other people who I trust.

One week before a trip, I make sure my medicines are ready, and print out a list of what I will need to take with me. If I am flying, and travelling alone, I only take small hand luggage, which I check in so that I don't need to carry it onto the aeroplane. I never take clothes which I will need to iron, and I use laundry services at my destination.

Favourite holiday destinations

I think my favourite place is Spain, because it has so many beautiful, and varied, places to visit. Barcelona is breathtaking, and I also love Seville, the capital of Andalusia. Malaga, with its charming surroundings, and islands like Majorca and the Canary Islands, from the largest, Tenerife, to the smallest, La Graciosa, are full of beauty and culture. It is also important for me that all these places are easily accessible and not very expensive.

Advising other dialysis patients about travel

The most important thing I would tell a fellow patient, is, simply, decide where you want to go! Once you know that (and my agency can help, as explained below) the planning can be fun. My top tips would be:

- travel alone if you are comfortable with that, but if you can, choose a friend or relative who you will enjoy spending time with;
- take as little luggage as possible;
- keep in mind the temperature – avoid going south in the summer, as it can be very hot, and you will need to take care not to get too thirsty and drink too much;
- if you have other disabilities that make travel challenging, ask for assistance, e.g. at airports, and it can be sensible to plan this help in advance;

- don't worry about not speaking the language of your destination – there are good online translators, body language... and we are there to help you even once you are away.

Running a dialysis travel agency

I would probably never have come into this business if I hadn't become a dialysis patient myself. When I visited Italy for the first time, the clinic where I had my dialysis treatment was looking for Polish representatives who could promote their clinic among Polish patients. I started to work with them, and soon realised that people wanting to travel to other places would welcome the same service.

I love seeing how happy and grateful people are when they come back from holiday. They almost never complain, but look back happily on their wonderful surroundings, delicious food, and beautiful moments, often in the sun

Now, we often help patients decide where to go on holiday, choosing a destination which can best meet their specific needs. We then take a big burden from patients, by booking their dialysis treatments and helping with completion of their medical documentation. Once they are on their way, we also offer constant support – patients we work with can always call us for advice.

I love seeing how happy and grateful people are when they come back from holiday. They almost never complain, but look back happily on their wonderful surroundings, delicious food, and beautiful moments, often in the sun.

Don't worry about travel

Very understandably, our clients' main concern is that they can trust the clinic and the medical staff at their destination. They often worry about not speaking the language, which is why we are on call for them if they need any help. It's also reassuring to remember that the medical procedures of dialysis are very similar everywhere, and we only use clinics with the highest medical standards.

People are often nervous before their first trip, but once it's done, their fears disappear. Indeed, they often choose to return regularly to the same place. Some people say that it was "the adventure of their life," bringing them back to life, and allowing them to dream again. And time and again, I see our clients deeply touched by the kindness of the people they meet in their holiday dialysis clinics.

Hungary

37 Budapest

38 Keszthely

If you're looking for a city break or longer vacation, Hungary is an ideal choice. It may be a small country, with no coast, but it packs an awful lot within its borders. Easily accessible, in the heart of Europe, its cities are richly full of architectural landmarks and Turkish and Roman influences on Hungarian culture include the popularity of mineral spas. There is diversity in this country's landscape and culture and a living folk heritage that are worth exploring.

Budapest

Budapest, the “Pearl of the Danube” has been one of Europe’s great cultural centres since the 19th century. With plenty of restaurants, bars, museums, spas and other attractions, Budapest never leaves you without something to do.

★ Don’t miss:

- Buda Castle & Fisherman’s Bastion – one of the top spots in the city for a panoramic selfie, and it’s easy to see why. This historic castle and neo-Gothic lookout have views across the river and Hungarian Parliament from Castle Hill in Buda. Offering the most romantic views over the city, it is the perfect spot for a photo or just a place to take in the view;
- Downtown Budapest – where business life, banks, and many cultural and historical sights are centred. Unlike Buda, little remains of the medieval city of Pest, but downtown offers tourist attractions and fine dining restaurants, and also less known parks, restaurants, and cafes that are worth a visit. In 40 minutes, you can walk from one end to the other at a leisurely pace;

- The Hungarian Parliament – one of Budapest’s most famous landmarks. Although you can spend hours admiring the exterior in all its intricate detail, try to join a guided tour to look around inside. You’ll see the gold-gilded staircase, the 1,000 year-old crown jewels, parliamentary rooms, and more;
- No trip to Budapest is complete without a stroll on the Danube Promenade to take in the view.

Keszthely

Keszthely is an adorable city, on the north west corner of Lake Balaton. One of the loveliest spots to stay in the area, and far removed from the tourist destinations on the lake. You can take a dip in small, shallow pools by day, absorb the lively yet relaxed ambience by night, and get a dose of culture by popping into the town's handful of museums and admiring its historical buildings.

★ Don't miss:

- Festetics Palace – one of the most famous buildings of Keszthely, built from the middle of the 18th century until 1880. Today, it functions as a cultural centre for the city. The palace has its own saloon, theatre and congress hall and a wonderful library, the Helikon Palace Museum, that owns about 86,000 books including antique encyclopaedias and prints. The 42 acre garden is a nature reserve that offers a relaxing area to take a walk;
- Lake Balaton – known as “The Hungarian Sea” and surrounded by vineyards, volcanic mountains and thermal spa resorts, Balaton is the largest freshwater lake in Central Europe and attracts sun-seekers, foodies, music lovers, and watersports fans;

- Wellness and spa – this region also offers a variety of healing, beauty and wellness treatments all year round based on its thermal springs, as well as the harmony created by the lake and the surrounding nature. The most notable spa locations are Hévíz and Zalakaros.

Bariloche

Bariloche is synonymous with snow, skiing, and the richest chocolates in Argentina. But as well as being a perfect winter destination, it also has a less well-known high season in the summer, especially January and February when it offers varied adventure sports activities alongside some of the most beautiful landscapes in the country. San Carlos de Bariloche is a city for all tastes: food-lovers will find the best restaurants serving roast meats and typical Patagonian recipes; lovers of fresh air will be able to trek on mountain paths with the most beautiful landscapes, and several spas on the shores of Lake Nahuel Huapi will please those yearning for a beach holiday.

★ Don't miss:

- Centro Civico/Civic Centre – in the heart of the city, the soul of a whole town. Miter Street was the first paved street in the city and home to most of the city's shops: chocolate shops, craft shops, bars, restaurants, bookstores, concert halls, galleries, travel agents and much more;
- Cerro Cathedral/Catedral Hill – the largest ski centre in the southern hemisphere offering a fantastic variety of winter and summer sports. Open all year round, it has 34 lifts. In summer the whole family can enjoy diverse activities from climbing and trekking, to zip-wires and “magic donut,” inflatable rides. Enjoy beautiful views, gastronomy and no motor vehicles;

- Villa La Angostura – known as the garden of Patagonia. Pure air, nature, tranquillity, security and warmth are its hallmarks. Vlorë – the queen of the Albanian Riviera, Vlorë sits at the junction of the Adriatic and Ionian Seas. Long known for its olive production, Vlorë was home to Albania's Declaration of Independence in 1912. The region is known for its traditional polyphonic music, folklore, exquisite culinary delicacies and some of the best beaches of the south.

★ Don't miss:

- National Museum of Independence: near the port, with a beautiful view of the sea. This modest, two-storey house is filled with the weight of history;
- Mosque of Muradije – a Cultural Monument of Albania. This mosque is a monument of enormous significance, protected not only for its history but for its architecture which is over five centuries old;

- Canina Castle – rises on the side of the Shushica Mountain, about 380 metres above sea level. The castle is believed to have been erected in the 3rd century BC;
- Sazan Island – Albania's largest island, a former military facility with secret bunkers and tunnels designed to withstand a nuclear attack which recently opened its secluded beaches and sites to the public.

Korçë is considered the birthplace of Albania's literary and artistic identity and the city's charm and traditions continue to reflect this heritage. Korçë's urban architecture, with its Ottoman, French and Roman influences, wide tree-lined boulevards and ample parks provides a unique experience in Albania. The city's markets, monuments and mosques highlight the significance of this Balkan city.

★ Don't miss:

- Korçë Cathedral – The Cathedral of the Resurrection is a monumental, modern building rising in the centre of Korçë. The cathedral has a magnificent nave crowned with a dome. On the sides there are two square towers. The interior is made of mahogany;
- National Museum of Medieval Art – one of those places where the modern and the old blend seamlessly together, creating an otherworldly, timeless space;

- The Old Bazaar – a big market with old streets filled with small shops, similar to eastern bazaars. In a parallel alley there is also a large food market occupying a long street and two big covered naves. The area is bustling and colourful;
- The National Education Museum – the Museum shows the history of Albanian writing, Albanian publications and the Albanian alphabet.

- Diriyah – a town on the edge of Riyadh, home to one of Saudi Arabia's UNESCO Heritage sites and a centre of Saudi Arabia's rich history.
- Al Masmak Fortress – a vast clay and mud-brick citadel built in 1865; step back in time and explore Saudi Arabia's roots;
- Sky Bridge at Kingdom Center – take the high-speed lift to the 99th floor of the iconic Kingdom Center for access to Riyadh's best urban panorama;
- Saudi National Museum – a must-visit location with more than 3,700 antiquities on display, documenting the grand history of Saudi Arabia over millennia;
- Souq Al Zal – the city's most famous market, opened in 1901, where you can find oriental and traditional Saudi Arabian items;
- Modern shopping, fine dining and art – Riyadh Park Mall, Riyadh Front and The Zone offer modern shopping, fine dining and pop-up art exhibits;
- Edge of the World – about 90 minutes drive from Riyadh, and then a challenging walk, here you can enjoy uninterrupted views of the horizon from 300-metre-high cliffs. This is a must-visit destination for adventure seekers and hiking enthusiasts alike.

Jeddah has always been a vibrant and cosmopolitan city, and a gateway for traders as well as pilgrims bound for Mecca. Jeddah has grown from its ancient origins into a dynamic commercial centre.

Jeddah has a 4.2 km modern corniche where many enjoy the sunset over the Red Sea while having a picnic, walking or cycling.

The Red Sea also offers fantastic diving and snorkeling experiences among beautiful pristine reefs as well as numerous beach, fishing and sea activities. The city centre, Al Balad, is a historic quarter where ancient coral-stone houses display their “Mashrabiya,” an ancient style of carved wood windows projecting into narrow alleyways where many shops are located.

★ Don't miss:

- Al Balad – Jeddah’s UNESCO-listed historic centre where you can find cool cafés, art galleries and spice-scented souqs;
- Souqs of Historic Jeddah – the market street along Bab Al Makkah is a gateway to the other souqs scattered around the area;
- The Tayebat Museum – a fascinating look at Jeddah’s 2,500 year-old history, which predates modern Saudi Arabia, showcasing the region’s traditional and unique architectural style;

- King Fahd’s Fountain – the world’s tallest fountain is a stunning Jeddah landmark, rising against the beauty of the Red Sea;
- Fakieh Aquarium – the first marine exhibition of its kind in Saudi Arabia;
- Jeddah Central Fish Market – enjoy delicacies fresh from the Red

Sea, prepared and cooked just hours after being caught. An immersive experience at this bustling central fish market;

- Modern shopping, fine dining and art – the Mall of Arabia, the Red Sea Mall and the Saudi Centre for Fine Arts are some of the modern shopping, fine dining and art venues that Jeddah offers.

Life Enhancing Renal Care

Diaverum provides life enhancing renal care to patients with Chronic Kidney Disease (CKD), enabling them to live fulfilling lives. Diaverum is a leading global provider in renal care services, and we help some 40,000 patients with 6.2 million treatments annually. Our vision is to transform renal care, to deliver the highest quality of care for patients and reduce total cost of care for payers. Our focus is haemodialysis, but we offer a portfolio of treatments ranging from preventive care, peritoneal dialysis and home care to coordination of patients' comorbidities, transplantation services and holiday dialysis. Diaverum employs around 14,000 people and operates 450 clinics in 24 countries globally. Diaverum has its head office in Malmö, Sweden.

Let us help you plan your holiday!
